

Environmental policy

For us at Care of Sweden, it is important to protect the environment, prevent pollution and contribute to a healthy social development that benefit both man and nature.

We manufacture medical technology equipment for the healthcare sector and our vision is to work together with the care to eliminate pressure ulcers. We look at environmental issues from a holistic perspective where we incorporate our products and services lifecycles into our processes and activities. This contributes to economically, socially and environmentally sustainable development. We monitor our environmental aspects, which together with an external monitoring gives one framework for setting environmental goals. It allows us to constantly improve our environmental performance.

Care of Sweden must fulfill the binding requirements set by our organization.
